PhD workshop on “Inter- and Transdisciplinarity in the 21st century”:

Interdisciplinary Research: Concepts, Processes and Creative Self-transformation

Prof. Frédéric Darbellay
Head of Inter- and Transdisciplinarity Unit
Center for Children’s Rights Studies
University of Geneva

15th June 2018

Resumé

This workshop aims to sensitize and train doctoral students to the theories, concepts and practices that underpin interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary research beyond disciplinary boundaries. The concepts of disciplinarity, pluridisciplinarity, interdisciplinarity and transdisciplinarity are defined in such a way as to make them accessible to doctoral students for implementation in their thesis path. The stages of an individual and/or collaborative interdisciplinary research process are also dealt with in a spirit of discovery, innovation and creativity. PhD students will finally undertake a self-reflexive approach on the place of interdisciplinarity in their thesis research (conceptual, theoretical, epistemological issues), its potentialities and its pitfalls/limitations, as well as its impact on their past, present and future academic identity and trajectory (career plan, evaluation, publication, strategies).

Please sign up by responding to this online form:

FORMULAR AUSFÜLLEN

The course times and the room location will be announced via email.